2009 Camp Hill Infants and State School Leaders with the Australian Prime Minister, Hon Kevin Rudd

Student Leadership Programmes

Camp Hill State Infants and Primary School has a range of programmes, across all year levels, which develop individual students' leadership skills. The roles and responsibilities of a leader are introduced to all students and each child has the opportunity to develop these skills through participation in the Student Council and other leadership roles on campus. Students are encouraged to set personal goals that included their individual interests, strengths and talents.

The school has strong links with community and corporate leaders and celebrates strong partnerships across these sectors.
